Top 5 Wedding Stationery Styles: The Ultimate Inspiration

With so many new trends in the wedding stationery industry, choosing the right invitation style can be daunting! With colour palette, wedding theme and design to consider, there are a lot of factors that will influence your wedding stationery style.

From whimsical florals to bold prints, there are so many invitation designs to choose from. With our handy guide, find the perfect paper inspiration. Discover our top 5 wedding stationery styles and learn how to tie them into your special day.

Vintage

Create the perfect first impression on your guests with vintage wedding stationery. Beautifully rustic and elegant in style, this popular wedding theme works so well with invitations. Add a timeless feel to your wedding day and a quirky touch with unique vintage styling.

Use a delicate lace belly band for a really soft finish or incorporate kraft paper for a clear vintage edge. We love these gorgeous vintage invites from Paper Studio By C with their simple yet stand-out design.

Combining modern calligraphy font with a vintage backdrop lifts the traditional vintage wedding stationery style. What's more, the custom laser cut wood is a really chic addition.

Vintage wedding styling doesn't have to look old-fashioned! For vintage elegance, use a pastel palette with hessian table runners and foliage table centres. Add rose gold cutlery to offset the antique theme and floral hoops for a modern twist.

Foil

Our next favourite wedding stationery style is foil invitations. For a luxurious feel and glamorous wedding theme, this is the perfect stationery trend. Add a glimmer of gold to highlight your wedding invitations and really enchant your guests!

Finding the right balance between a chic design and sparkle overload is a tricky one to gauge. Try to select a design with small foil details to make the foiled elements more vibrant. A few floral elements outlined in foil often look really stylish. On the other hand, having your names embossed with foil is an uncomplicated yet effective style.

Why not try coloured card stock with foiled lettering? Thick card in a muted tone will make your wedding stationery feel high quality and dark card stock gives an opulent finish.

For the ultimate foil wedding stationery, add a metallic wax seal. This traditional element will enhance your wedding invitations and really make for a special delivery!

Vellum

Another up and coming wedding stationery style is vellum invitations. The rich, semi-opaque texture adds an uber modern feel to wedding stationery. Plus, you can combine this with an illustrated back page to accent your wedding colours.

Using vellum as a printed overlay works really well if you love an invitation design but want a contemporary look. You can have a vibrant design on the underlay that will show through the vellum. This can look stunning combined with a minimalist font and linen ribbon.

Alternatively, surprise your guest list with vellum envelopes. A trendy exterior for your wedding invitations, this wedding stationery style is beautiful. Plus, it compliments any wedding invitation design, from romantic dusky pinks to vibrant jungle prints.

Bold

This leads perfectly onto our next wedding stationery inspiration. For the more daring bride, bold wedding styling will really make your stationery stand out. If you're looking for a more vibrant wedding theme or summer vibes on your big day, bold wedding stationery will be spot on.

Try a jungle print for outdoor summer weddings or choose block colours for a striking design. If you are looking for a really bright wedding stationery style, add flecks of coral for an eye-catching invitation.

Move away from traditional wedding style with abstract designs and flamboyant brush strokes. Accentuate more fun, informal weddings with this wedding stationery style and wow your guests with an extraordinary invitation suite.

Letterpress

Last but certainly not least comes the letterpress wedding stationery style. This trend shows off rich card textures and leave a lasting impression. It particularly accents your invitation fonts and has a quality, sumptuous finish.

Used sparingly, the letterpress technique on invitations is so classy. Try not to over complicate your wedding stationery with elaborate design elements. Instead, allow your invitations to speak for themself with crisp, minimalist style.

For an extra glamorous finish, try gilt edging with 600gsm card stock. This looks incredible combined with letterpress fonts and will really give your wedding stationery a stylish finish.

Photo credits: Coral Pheasant, Paper Studio By C, Polkadot Paper, Chasing Linen, Ochre Weddings, Dinglewood Design